Come to the Edge....No, we are afraid....Come to the Edge....but we might fall....Come to the Edge....and they came....and they were pushed... and they flew (adapted quote from Guillaume Apollinaire)

Do you dream of working with a group of dynamic people dedicated to personal growth, healthy lifestyles, green living and connecting with nature?

Northern Edge Algonquin Retreat Centre is a peaceful, intimate, nourishing nature retreat located on the Edge of Algonquin Provincial Park in Ontario. We strive to provide experiences in nature that help us rediscover ourselves, empower others and heal the earth. www.northernedgealgonquin.com

Vision: We are dedicated to:

- Living in balance and harmony, creating opportunities to share our passion while assisting other's in finding their own.
- Providing a healthy environment for small groups and individuals to retreat and connect, as well as soulfully guided adventures into Algonquin Park and beyond.
- Designing experiences that 'sharpen the edge' with adventure, creative expression, dreamtime, connecting with others and nature.
- Facilitating enriched learning experiences for corporate, school and adult groups.

Northern Edge Algonquin is owned by Martha and Todd Lucier and is operated by a small community of full and part-time staff who attend to maintaining a sustainable balance between health, environmental responsibility and economic well-being.

Each year we invite like-minded individuals who share our mission to join us in providing enriching experiences in nature, offering their unique talents to make the Edge a continually evolving garden of human potential.

The Edge Team values good communication, self-responsibility, and working as a team. We seek individuals who have an understanding that their role and work is integral to fulfilling our mission.

The Edge community encourages and supports opportunities for personal growth as each member is invited to share their own life skills. Working at the Edge can be deeply rewarding, intense and demanding. The key is to find the balance in every experience.
